United States Attorney Deborah R. Gilg announced that Bradley Harris, 51, of Humbolt, Nebraska, was sentenced on May 23, 2011, to 15 months in prison by United States District Judge Warren K. Urbom, following his conviction for possessing firearms after having a domestic abuse protection order entered against him. In addition to his prison term, Harris will serve three years of supervised release following his release from prison.

Harris was arrested by the Lincoln Police Department after he pawned three rifles and two shotguns at a Lincoln pawn shop. At the time he did that, Harris was subject to a court order issued by the District Court of Richardson County, Nebraska, restraining him from harassing, stalking, or threatening his intimate partner, and that, by its terms, explicitly prohibited the possession of firearms.

This case was investigated by the Richardson County Sheriff's Office and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives.
